DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

Election/Restrictions

1. Claims 2 -3 and 14 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected species, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on 3/3/2005.

Claim 14 has not been rejoined into the application.

Claim 14 has the status identifier of (original) in the list of claims in the 9/12/2005 amendment. It should have the status identifier of (withdrawn). Claim 14 has not been examined.

New claim 19 is dependent on withdrawn claim 2, and will not be examined.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claim 18 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

a) Claim 18: it is not clear if “metal” modifies only carbonates, or both carbonates and bicarbonates.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 1 and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by EP 1060901.

'901 teaches forming a porous base layer for an inkjet recording element by applying a hydrophilic polymer such as gelatin or PVA plus blowing agent to a support (4:4-37).

The applicant has argued that the base layer is a sponge layer for absorbing ink and not an ink-receiving layer. However, it is the examiner's position that the base layer, by absorbing ink, is acting as an ink-receiving layer.

6. The rejection of Claims 1, 4 and 15 under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Aono (5128313) is withdrawn because of the amendment filed 9/12/2005.

7. The rejection of Claims 1, 4, 6-7 and 15-16 under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by DeBoer et al (6299302) is withdrawn because of the amendment filed 9/12/2005.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

8. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

9. Claims 5-12 and 16-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over EP 1060901.

‘901 fails to teach the wt % of blowing agent, the presence of surfactants, plural simultaneous coatings or foaming by heat.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to have optimized the wt% of the composition thru no more than routine experimentation.

Applying a plurality of coating solutions is a mere variation on typical coating practices.

‘901 teaches that additives that are well known in the art may be added (4:36-37). This would be inclusive of surfactants.

Foaming by heating blowing agents is well known in the art.

‘901 fails to teach the blowing agents of claim 18. However, it is the examiner’s position that any conventional blowing agents, such as those of claim 18, would be operational in the ‘901 process.

The applicant has argued that ‘901 teaches that the base layer does not have to be porous. However, [0022] teaches that the base layer may be a porous structure, and may be made so by foaming or blowing during coating. It is the examiner's position '901 sufficiently teaches that the base layer may be porous.

10. The rejection of Claims 5-12 and 16-17 under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Aono (5128313) is withdrawn because of the amendment filed 9/12/2005.

11. The rejection of Claims 5, 8-12 and 17 under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Aono (6299302) is withdrawn because of the amendment filed 9/12/2005.

12. Claim 13 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over EP 1060901 taken in view of KR 2000-0063640.

'901 fail to teach adding an acid to react with the blowing agent.

'640 teaches adding an acid that decomposes a foaming agent as a process to foam a PVA solution (see pages 7-9 of translation).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to have used the acid foaming process of '640 in the '901 process because '640 teaches that this is a conventional means of foaming a PVA solution.

Conclusion

13. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
